The South African Society for Cultural History (SASCH) is an academic society, established in 1982, with the purpose of promoting Cultural History as a discipline in South Africa.

WHAT DOES THE SASCH DO?

- Arrange congresses, conferences and seminars on Cultural History
- Encourage research and publication of scientific articles of a cultural historical nature
- Make recommendations to authorities and organisations regarding the conservation of South African heritage
- Establish contact between cultural historians and other interested persons and parties

WHAT ADVANTAGES DOES MEMBERSHIP HOLD?

A member receives:

- Two editions of the South African Journal for Cultural History per year
- Two editions of the society's Newsletter per year.
- The opportunity to attend all SASCH congresses and conferences at reduced cost
- Access to the International Society for Cultural History (ISCH) and its conferences

In this way the member stays in touch with cultural historians and the most recent developments in Cultural History.
